

"Six Feet Apart"

By: Bianca Contreras

When the world shut down
So did my heart
From then on I loved you
Six feet apart

I need your embrace
Through this bright little screen
That in wildfires of chaos
let my love live evergreen

Who knew it'd be difficult
To hold your masked cheek
And days we didn't do anything
Still left us tired and weak

But I will sing to your balcony
Or bake you some bread
Learn complicated dances
To remember for our lives ahead

For I will find a way that death won't do us part Still, I will love you, even
Six feet apart
